Dear Sirs/Madams

Audit Engagement Letter

The purpose of this letter is to confirm our understanding of the terms of our engagement as external auditor of Salus Re SPC, Ltd. and its Segregated Portfolios (hereinafter referred to as the "Company" or the "Client") and the nature of the services we will perform for the year ended 31 December 2025.

This letter forms the entire Agreement (the "Agreement") and understanding between Baker Tilly (Cayman) Ltd.[1] ("Baker Tilly") and the Company (collectively the "Parties") with respect to the audit we will perform for the Company. It supersedes all previous arrangements and understandings between the Parties, with respect to the audit of the Company, which shall cease to have any further force or effect. Any variation of the terms of this letter shall be made in writing and will not be effective unless signed by a director of Baker Tilly and by a duly authorised representative of the Company.

The Client has represented to us that it does not have shares/interest registered with the United States Securities Exchange Commission ("SEC") (herein referred to as an "SEC Issuer"). The Client is responsible for determining and confirming whether its financial statements are required to be audited by a Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("PCAOB") registered auditor, including, but not limited to, circumstances where such audit may be used by the Client's investment adviser to comply with the Custody Rule (Rule 206(4)-2 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940). We will rely on the Client's representation that the financial statements will not be used to comply with the SEC's Custody Rule, and we will not be responsible for determining the applicability of the Custody Rule or for any consequences should the Client's determination prove to be inaccurate.

Baker Tilly responsibilities and limitations

Our function as auditors of the Company is to report to the directors ("Board of Directors") by expressing an opinion as to whether the Company's annual financial statements present fairly in all material respects the financial position of the Company in accordance with United States generally accepted accounting principles ("U.S. GAAP") ("the financial reporting framework"). We will conduct our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America ("generally accepted auditing standards"). In doing so, we do not assume any duties, contractual or otherwise, to any individual director of the Company.

[1] References in the Agreement to "we", "us", "our", or "the Firm" pertain to Baker Tilly.

Baker Tilly (Cayman) Ltd., trading as Baker Tilly, is a member of the global network of Baker Tilly International Ltd., the members of which are separate and independent legal entities.

Generally accepted auditing standards require us to comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance that the financial statements taken as a whole are not materially misstated. In conducting the audit, we will perform tests of the accounting records and such other procedures as we consider necessary in the circumstances to provide a reasonable basis for our opinion on the financial statements. We will also assess the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall financial statement presentation. We cannot provide assurance that an unmodified opinion will be rendered. Circumstances may arise in which it is necessary for us to modify our report or withdraw from the engagement. In such circumstances, our findings or reasons for withdrawal will be communicated to the Board of Directors.

An audit is not designed to provide absolute assurance that there are no misstatements in the financial statements resulting from fraud, irregularities or error. The responsibility for the prevention and detection of any irregularities, including error and fraud, and any non-compliance with laws and regulations rests with you. An audit is designed to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement. However, because of the (sample) test nature and other inherent limitations of an audit performed in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, together with the inherent limitations of any system of internal control, there is an unavoidable risk that a material misstatement, or fraud, may remain undiscovered. While we shall endeavour to plan our audit so as to have a reasonable expectation of detecting material misstatements in the financial statements or accounting records resulting from fraud or other irregularities, our examination should not be relied upon to disclose such fraud or other irregularities, should any exist. The proper and effective design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal controls by the Company's management is thus essential.

Further, an audit is not designed to detect matters that are immaterial to the financial statements. To the extent that they come to our attention, we will inform management about any material errors and any instances of fraud or illegal acts. Further, to the extent that they come to our attention, we will inform the Board of Directors about any fraud and illegal acts that involve senior management, fraud that in our judgement causes a material misstatement of the financial statements of the Company, and illegal acts, unless clearly inconsequential, that have not otherwise been communicated to the Board of Directors.

Our audit report is intended for the benefit of those to whom it is addressed. We will not, in giving our audit opinion, accept liability or assume responsibility for any other purpose or to any other person who receives our report unless otherwise agreed by us in writing.

The audit will not be planned or conducted in contemplation of reliance by any third party or with respect to any specific transaction. Therefore, any items of possible interest to a third party may not be specifically addressed and matters may exist that would be assessed differently by a third party, possibly in connection with a specific transaction. You may rely only on final written deliverables and not on oral advice, draft deliverables or any other information. Our audit report will include the statement "This report, including the opinion, has been prepared for and only for the Company's Board of Directors, as a body, and for no other purpose. We do not, in giving this opinion, accept or assume responsibility for any other purpose or to any other person to whom this report is shown or into whose hands it may come except where expressly agreed by our prior consent in writing".

Once we have issued our audit report, we have no further obligation to perform any audit procedures in relation to the financial statements for that financial year. However, in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, if afterwards we become aware of a fact that may have caused us to amend our audit report had we known it before we signed our report, we will discuss the matter with you and consider whether the financial statements need revision. We also request, and by entering into this Agreement you agree, that you will inform us of any material events occurring after the date of our auditor's report which may affect the financial statements.

Management's responsibilities

The financial statements and all disclosures and representations contained therein are the responsibility of the Company's directors and management.

CONFIDENTIAL
ryan.calasawny@aaltick.com

These responsibilities include:

1) maintaining accounting records that:
   a) correctly record and explain the transactions of the Company;
   b) enable the financial position of the Company to be determined with reasonable accuracy at any time;
   c) enable the directors to ensure that the financial statements of the Company comply with the financial reporting framework; and
   d) enable the financial statements of the Company to be readily and properly audited;

2) adopting sound accounting policies, making accounting estimates, implementing record keeping and designing, implementing and maintaining internal controls which maintain the reliability of the financial statements, safeguard the assets of the Company and provide reasonable assurance against the possibility of misstatements that are material to the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error;

3) the preparation of financial statements that comply with the financial reporting framework;

4) the preparation of financial statements that present fairly in all material respects the financial position of the Company;

5) making all explanations and information available to us, including minutes of all management, director and shareholders' meetings that we may request;

6) allowing us a right of access to the accounting records and other documents of the Company at all times;

7) giving us notice and other communications relating to all general meetings of the Company;

8) notifying us of such further information including post balance sheet date events which will or might have a bearing on our audit responsibilities;

9) notifying us immediately if circumstances arise or matters come to your attention that indicate that our services are no longer required or will be required on a delayed basis. Examples might include non-commencement of operations, cessation of operations, change of inaugural accounting period end, change of year end and so on.

10) identifying and ensuring that the Company complies with the laws and regulations applicable to it, the resolution of any penalties or fines arising from violations of such laws and regulations and informing us of all such violations.

11) informing us about all known or suspected fraud affecting the entity involving (a) management, (b) employees who have significant roles in internal control over financial reporting, and (c) others where the fraud could have a material effect on the financial statements. In addition, management is responsible for informing us about its knowledge of any allegations of fraud or suspected fraud affecting the entity received in communications from employees, former employees, analysts, regulators, short sellers, service providers, shareholders, counterparties or others.

The audit of the Company's financial statements does not relieve its directors or management of their responsibilities.

The Company acknowledges and agrees that the truthful, accurate and complete representations of those charged with governance and/or management of the Company made to Baker Tilly or any member of the Baker Tilly Group (as defined below) in respect of the Company are integral to Baker Tilly's provision of the services to the Company under this Agreement (the "Services") and therefore the Company agrees to release, indemnify and keep indemnified to the greatest extent permissible under applicable law: Baker Tilly., its affiliates, any Delegates (as defined herein under "Delegation") and any of its/their shareholders, partners, principals, employees, affiliates, subsidiaries, contractors and/or agents (collectively, the "Baker Tilly Group" or the "Baker Tilly Indemnified Parties") from and against any and all costs, claims, demands, liabilities, expenses, damages, or losses of any kind (including, without limitation, consequential losses and loss of profit and all interest, penalties and legal and other professional costs and expenses) (collectively, "Losses") relating to the Services or this Agreement, howsoever incurred which are attributable to any negligence, misrepresentation, fraudulent acts or omissions or wilful default by those charged with governance, management and/or any of management's and/or those charged with governance's employees, agents and/or authorised persons.

CONFIDENTIAL cvencatasawmy@actrisk.com

Audit procedures

In conducting our audit, we will perform tests of the accounting records and such other procedures as we consider necessary in the circumstances to provide a reasonable basis for our opinion on the financial statements. We will examine, on a (sample) test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. We will also assess the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall financial statement presentation.

In planning and performing our audit, we will consider the Company's internal controls in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the financial statements but not to provide assurances on the internal controls. While we are not being engaged to report on the Company's internal controls, we will communicate reportable conditions to you to the extent that they come to our attention. Reportable conditions are significant deficiencies in the design or operation of internal controls which could adversely affect the Company's ability to record, process, summarise and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the financial statements.

As required by generally accepted auditing standards, we will make specific inquiries of management about the representations embodied in the financial statements and the effectiveness of internal control, and obtain a representation letter from management about these matters. The responses to our inquiries, the written representations, and the results of audit tests comprise the evidential matter we will rely upon in forming an opinion on the financial statements. In order to complete our audit, we will require a letter of representation from management on matters relating to the accuracy and completeness of the financial statements.

Management is responsible for adjusting the financial statements to correct any material misstatements and for affirming to us in the representation letter that the effects of any uncorrected misstatements aggregated by us during the current engagement and pertaining to the latest period presented are immaterial, both individually and in the aggregate, to the financial statements taken as a whole.

Audit fees

Our fees are based on the time required to complete the engagement plus direct out-of-pocket expenses. Individual hourly rates vary according to the degree of responsibility involved and the experience and skill required.

Our fee for the audit of the Company's financial statements will be US$21,500, plus disbursements charged at a flat rate of 5% of the audit fee. This 5% disbursement charge relates solely to our internal administrative and overhead costs (e.g., printing, communications, and incidental expenses).

In addition, any direct expenses incurred and paid by Baker Tilly on behalf of the Company (such as regulatory filing fees, confirmation costs, courier charges, or other third-party costs) will be recharged to the Company at actual cost.

Our fees and out-of-pocket expenses will be billed as work progresses and are payable within thirty (30) days of invoice. While our standard policy is to bill upon completion of fieldwork or at agreed milestones, Baker Tilly may, in certain circumstances, request payment prior to issuing our audit report.

Without limiting its rights or remedies, Baker Tilly shall have the right to halt or terminate entirely the Services until payment is received in full on past due invoices. If this occurs, Baker Tilly will not be responsible for any resultant Losses incurred by the Company. We will discuss fee considerations with you prior to the commencement of each subsequent audit examination, which shall in each case be the subject of a new engagement letter.

CONFIDENTIAL - cvencatacawm@actrisk.com

Our estimate contemplates that no additional work will be required to satisfy us on significant accounting problems that may unexpectedly arise during the course of our examination. Should such a situation arise, we will discuss it with you before undertaking any additional work. Any additional time incurred for unexpected situations or special work will be billed in addition to the fee estimate.

Please note that there is no VAT (Value Added Tax) or any other indirect taxes on services provided in the Cayman Islands.

Our banking details are as follows: Butterfield Bank (Cayman) Limited, USD Savings: 01201040028. We will never change or amend our banking details via email, invoice or another electronic forum. Please contact our office for formal verification should you receive any correspondence of such nature. You should not act on any email purportedly from us changing our banking details but are kindly requested to immediately inform us of any such request.

Delegation

Baker Tilly shall at its sole discretion have the right to delegate the performance of some or all of the Services to any member firms of the international Baker Tilly network and/or their independent alliance members, or unaffiliated third-party contractors (each, a "Delegate") without the Company's prior consent. If such delegation is made, the Company agrees that, unless it enters into an engagement letter directly with the Delegate, all of the applicable terms and conditions of this Agreement shall apply mutatis mutandis to the Delegate. The Client agrees that Baker Tilly shall remain solely responsible for the Services, unless we and the Company agree otherwise in writing.

From time to time, and depending on the circumstances, personnel from a Delegate located in another country may participate in the Services. In some cases, we may transfer information to or from the Cayman Islands or another country. Although applicable privacy laws may vary depending on the jurisdiction, and may provide less or different protection than those of the Company's home country, we will require that any such affiliate or Delegate agrees, in respect of the processing of the Company's data, contractually and in writing to act only on instructions from Baker Tilly, to comply with obligations equivalent to those imposed on Baker Tilly by the Data Protection Act, (as revised) of the Cayman Islands (the "DP Act") and to maintain the confidentiality of the Company's information and observe our policies concerning any confidential client information that we provide to them.

Confidentiality

With respect to this Agreement and any information supplied in connection with this Agreement and designated by the disclosing party (the "Disclosing Party") as "Confidential Information" either by marking it as "confidential" prior to disclosure to the receiving party (the "Recipient") or, if such information is disclosed orally or by inspection, then by indicating to the Recipient that the information is confidential at the time of disclosure and confirming in writing to the Recipient, the confidential nature of the information within ten (10) business days of such disclosure, the Recipient agrees to: (i) protect the Confidential Information in the same manner in which it protects its confidential information of like importance, but in no case using less than reasonable care; (ii) use the Confidential Information only to perform its obligations under this Agreement; and (iii) reproduce Confidential Information only as required to perform its obligations under this Agreement.

This section shall not apply to information which is (a) publicly known, (b) already known to the Recipient; (c) disclosed to a third party without restriction; (d) independently developed; or (e) disclosed pursuant to legal requirement or order, or as is required by regulations or professional standards governing the Services performed. Subject to the foregoing, Baker Tilly may disclose the Client's Confidential Information to its Delegates.

CONFIDENTIAL - Giancatascaviny@actrisk.com

Notwithstanding that the working papers developed by Baker Tilly are the property of Baker Tilly (per the "Working Papers" clause below) and constitute Confidential Information, the Client acknowledges that in certain circumstances Baker Tilly, its directors or employees may be obliged to give evidence and information to courts or regulatory authorities in connection with the affairs of the Client. Disclosure will not normally be made to third parties unless required by applicable laws and regulations, professional standards or where failure to make such disclosures would, in our opinion, be prejudicial to Baker Tilly. If disclosure is required, access to such work papers will be provided under the supervision of Baker Tilly's personnel. Furthermore, upon request, we may provide photocopies of selected work papers to the relevant court or regulator. In the event that Baker Tilly is required pursuant to subpoena or other legal process to produce its documents relating to engagements for the Client in judicial or administrative proceedings to which Baker Tilly is not a party, the Client shall reimburse Baker Tilly for its professional time and expense, including reasonable attorney's fees, incurred in responding to such requests.

Communication between Baker Tilly and the Client may, from time to time, unless we receive specific written instructions to the contrary, be conducted by internet e-mail, whose open, insecure and unreliable nature the Client recognises and the risks associated with that method of communication the Client accepts, including (but without limitation) lack of security, unreliability of delivery and possible loss of confidentiality and privilege.

Baker Tilly will accept no responsibility or liability in respect of risks associated with the use of internet e-mail, including any damage or potential damage to the Client's computer systems, or the data stored on those systems, as a result of viruses or other problems introduced as a result of communication by internet e-mail.

Please note that if we have suspicions of money laundering based on information obtained by us professionally, we are required to report such suspicions to the relevant authorities pursuant to Cayman Islands laws and regulations, including the Money Laundering Regulations, Proceeds of Crime Act (as revised) of the Cayman Islands and the Terrorism Act (as revised) of the Cayman Islands. Such a report does not breach any duty of confidentiality owed to the Client.

The DP Act became effective in the Cayman Islands on 30 September 2019. The DP Act introduces a legislative framework on data protection in the Cayman Islands and defines and governs the use and processing of both personal data and sensitive personal data. The DP Act stipulates that data controllers and/or data processors cease processing personal data once the purpose for which that data has been collected has been achieved. Baker Tilly is a data controller as we can determine the purpose, conditions and manner in which any personal data is processed. The DP Act also gives individuals the right to access their personal data held and to request that any inaccurate data is corrected or deleted. For further information on Baker Tilly's data privacy notice please refer to our website (bakertilly.ky).

Working Papers

Any Working Papers and files for this engagement created by us during the course of the audit, including electronic documents and files, are the sole property of Baker Tilly.

Baker Tilly shall retain its Working Papers and files, including photocopies or electronic copies of documents belonging to the Client, related to the provision of the audit, for a period required by the applicable professional standards, laws or regulations. Baker Tilly's documentation retention policy may be varied from time to time as applicable professional standards, laws or regulations permit.

Deliverables and Baker Tilly Knowledge

Materials specifically prepared by Baker Tilly for the Client as a deliverable under the Engagement Letter (each a "Deliverable") may, when fully paid for by the Client, be used, copied, distributed internally, and modified by the Client but solely for its internal business purposes. The Client shall not, without Baker Tilly's prior written consent, disclose to a third party, publicly quote or make reference to the Deliverables. Baker Tilly shall retain all rights, title and interest in and to: (i) the Deliverables, including but not limited to, all patent, copyright, trademark and other intellectual property rights therein; and (ii) all methodologies, processes, techniques, ideas, concepts, trade secrets and know-how embodied in the Deliverables or that Baker Tilly may develop or supply in connection with this Agreement (the "Baker Tilly Knowledge"). Subject to the confidentiality restrictions contained in the Terms, Baker Tilly may use the Deliverables and the Baker Tilly Knowledge for any purpose.

Non-solicitation

During the term of this Agreement, and for a period of six (6) months following the expiration or termination thereof, neither party will actively solicit the employment of the personnel of the other party involved directly with providing Services hereunder. Both Parties acknowledge that the fee for hiring personnel from the other party, during the project term and within six months following completion, will be a fee equal to the hired person's annual salary at the time of the violation so as to reimburse the party for the costs of hiring and training a replacement.

Limitation of liability

Baker Tilly's maximum liability to the Client in respect of any Losses, including for any negligence on the part of any member of the Baker Tilly Group, relating to the Services provided under this Agreement, shall be limited to three times the fees paid to Baker Tilly for the Services or work product giving rise to any Losses, except to the extent finally determined by a duly constituted arbitral tribunal or court of competent jurisdiction to have resulted from the actual fraud or wilful default of Baker Tilly.

The Client agrees to release, indemnify and keep indemnified to the greatest extent permissible under applicable laws, the Baker Tilly Group from and against any Losses relating to the Services or this Agreement attributable to any negligence, misrepresentation, fraudulent acts or omission or wilful default by those charged with governance, management and/or any of management's and/or those charged with governance's employees, agents and/or authorised persons.

Any liability of the Baker Tilly Group to the Client in respect of any breach of contract or breach of duty or fault or negligence or any other liability whatsoever arising out of or in connection with this Agreement shall be limited to that proportion of the loss or damage (including interest and costs) suffered by the Client which is ascribed to us by agreement with the Client or failing such agreement by an Arbitration Panel duly constituted in accordance with the "Dispute Resolution" clause below, in either case allocating proportionate responsibility to us having regard to the contribution to the loss and damage in question of any other person, irrespective of whether (a) the Client can or does actually obtain any judgment or arbitral award against such other person or obtains satisfaction of any such judgment or award and (b) the Client agrees at any time before or after the loss or damage arose to limit the liability of such other person.

Dispute Resolution

In the event of any dispute, controversy, or claim arising out of or in connection with the performance or breach of this Agreement, excluding claims for non-monetary or equitable relief (collectively, a "Dispute"), either party may give written notice to the other party of such Dispute ("Dispute Notice").

If the Dispute cannot be settled through negotiations within thirty (30) days of the date on which the Dispute Notice is received, either party may give written notice to the other that it wishes to refer the Dispute to mediation ("Mediation Notice").

Any such mediation shall be assisted by a neutral mediator acceptable to both Parties and shall require the commercially reasonable efforts of the Parties to discuss with each other in good faith their respective positions and different interests with a view to finally resolving such Dispute. If the Parties are unable to agree on a mediator within thirty (30) days of the date on which the Mediation Notice is received, either party may invoke the mediation services of the Cayman International Mediation and Arbitration Centre ("CI-MAC"). The venue of the mediation shall be the Cayman Islands and all issues of law, procedure and confidentiality shall be determined and governed by the laws of the Cayman Islands.

CONFIDENTIAL cyanciatascawny@actrisk.com

Each party may disclose any facts to the other party and/or to the mediator that it, in good faith, considers reasonably necessary to resolve the Dispute. However, all such disclosures shall be deemed in furtherance of settlement efforts and shall not be admissible in any subsequent proceedings. Except as agreed to in writing by both Parties, the mediator shall keep confidential all information disclosed during mediation. The mediator shall not act as a witness in any subsequent proceedings between the Parties.

The attorneys' fees and costs incurred by each party in such mediation shall be borne solely by such party, except that the fees and expenses of the mediator shall be borne equally by the parties.

Any Dispute not resolved first by mediation between the parties shall be decided finally by binding arbitration. The seat of arbitration shall be the Cayman Islands and the language of the arbitration shall be English. In any arbitration instituted hereunder, the proceedings shall be conducted in accordance with the then current Arbitration Rules of CI-MAC (the "Rules"). The governing law of the arbitration shall be the law of the Cayman Islands and the substantive law of the Cayman Islands shall apply to all issues therein, save where applying the principles of private international law applicable in the Cayman Islands, the law of another jurisdiction would apply.

The arbitration shall be conducted before a panel of three persons, one selected by each party, and the third selected by the two party-selected arbitrators (the "Arbitration Panel"). At least one arbitrator shall be an attorney admitted to practice in the Cayman Islands. The party-selected arbitrators shall be treated as neutrals. Save that the Arbitration Panel shall have the power to order security for costs and other interim measures in any arbitration, the Arbitration Panel shall have no authority to award non-monetary or equitable relief, but nothing herein shall be construed as a prohibition against a party from pursuing non-monetary or equitable relief in the Grand Court of the Cayman Islands, which shall have exclusive jurisdiction in respect of such matters. The parties also waive any right to claim punitive damages and the arbitrators shall have no authority to award such damages or any other damages that are not strictly compensatory in nature. In rendering their award, the Arbitration Panel shall issue in writing findings of fact and conclusions of law. The Arbitration Panel shall not have authority to grant an award that is not supported by substantial evidence or that is based on an error of law. The confidentiality provisions applicable to mediation shall also apply to arbitration. Upon final determination of the issues between the parties, the award issued by the Arbitration Panel may be confirmed and enforced in any jurisdiction.

The Client shall bring no demand for arbitration more than one year after the Client becoming aware of the facts which give rise to the alleged liability of Baker Tilly and in any event within three years of the act or omission alleged to have caused the Loss in question. This provision will shorten, but in no event extend, any otherwise legally applicable period of limitation in relation to any such Dispute(s). Further, and in any event, no demand for arbitration shall be made by either party after the date on which the initiation of the legal or equitable proceeding on the same Dispute would be barred by the applicable statute of limitations or by application of the equivalent under the principles of equity. For the purposes of applying the statute of limitations or equivalent equitable principles, receipt of a valid written demand for arbitration by CI-MAC in compliance with the Rules shall be deemed the initiation of the legal or equitable proceeding based on such Dispute.

If CI-MAC is no longer in existence/operation at the time when any Dispute Notice is intended to be given under this Agreement, then all references in this Agreement to "CI-MAC" shall instead be treated as references to the American Arbitration Institution ("AAA") such that any mediation and/or arbitration shall be referred to the AAA and conducted under the then current AAA Arbitration Rules.

Sole Recourse

This Agreement is between the Client and Baker Tilly only. The provisions of this clause only apply where, and to the extent, permitted by applicable laws.

If a Delegate carries out any work for you in relation to the Services, the Delegate will do so as a sub-contractor of Baker Tilly.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Services may be carried out by a Delegate, Baker Tilly will remain the sole contracting party and will be the sole entity that is responsible to you. For the avoidance of doubt, any Dispute arising out of or in connection with any delegation to a Delegate shall be resolved between you and Baker Tilly in accordance with the Dispute Resolution clause above. You agree that Baker Tilly shall have sole liability for both its acts and/or omissions and also all acts and/or omissions of any Delegate and you agree that you shall bring no claims or proceedings of any nature whatsoever (whether in contract, tort, breach of statutory duty or otherwise) against any Delegate or other Baker Tilly Indemnified Party in any way arising from, in respect of or in connection with the Services or this Agreement, and that any Delegate of other Baker Tilly Indemnified Party shall have no liability to you arising from or in connection with the services to be provided under this Agreement.

Subject and without prejudice to the provisions of this Sole Recourse clause, it is agreed that the limitation of liability provisions in this Agreement shall otherwise apply to each Delegate or other Baker Tilly Indemnified Party we may involve in the Services from time to time.

You agree that any Delegate or other Baker Tilly Indemnified Party who we may involve in the Services shall each have the right to rely on and enforce the "Sole Recourse" provisions above as if they were parties to this Agreement, including (if necessary) for the purpose of obtaining an anti-suit injunction to restrain the pursuit of any claims or other legal proceedings brought by the Client in breach of this Sole Recourse clause, however the consent of any such Delegate of other Baker Tilly Indemnified Parties shall not be required in respect of any amendment, rescission or termination of any provision of this Agreement.

Restriction on the use of the Baker Tilly name or logo

When considering the use of our report in other documents you agree not to quote the Baker Tilly name or logo, whether directly or through implication, in any material other than financial statements (which Baker Tilly have audited) prepared in accordance with the financial reporting framework or applicable legal or regulatory requirements, without the prior consent of Baker Tilly. The definitive version of financial statements which we have audited shall be those bearing our original manuscript signature and Baker Tilly shall not be responsible or liable for any errors or inaccuracies appearing in any reproduction in any form or medium.

We recognise that the Client may wish to publish its financial statements and our report, on the Client's or a third party's web site, or to distribute such material to shareholders or other parties having a legitimate right to receive such by electronic means, such as e-mail. In connection with such publication:

1) The Client shall not carry out any electronic publication or distribution without first obtaining our consent. We may withhold our consent to the electronic publication or distribution of our report if the audited financial statements or our report is to be published or distributed in an inappropriate manner. Where we consent, we shall, if appropriate, supply an electronic version of our report suitable for such publication or distribution.

2) It is and shall remain the responsibility of the Client to ensure that any such electronic publication or distribution properly presents the financial information and our report. The Client shall ensure that financial information on its web site distinguishes clearly between financial information that we have audited and other information and avoids any inappropriate association.

3) Any electronic publication or distribution of our report is to be accompanied by the following statement: "The accompanying report of Baker Tilly is for the sole and exclusive use of the Client. Any redistribution made by the Client is to be 100% full, complete and unaltered in any way. Further, the report of Baker Tilly is as of the Baker Tilly report date and Baker Tilly has carried out no procedures of any nature subsequent to that date which in any way extends that date."

4) The Client shall retain responsibility for using a secure method of communication when distributing the financial information and our report electronically and our work shall not extend to any consideration or examination of such matters, which shall be beyond the scope of our audit of the financial statements.

CONFIDENTIAL cvencatacawm@actuk.com

5) The Client shall retain responsibility for the controls over and the security of the Client's web site and our work shall not extend to any consideration or examination of such matters, which shall be beyond the scope of our audit of the financial statements.

Where the Client proposes to take advantage of laws or regulations allowing for electronic publication and distribution of financial statements and our report and other financial information to shareholders and to any regulatory authority, the Client shall remain responsible for establishing and controlling the process for doing so.

Force Majeure

Baker Tilly shall have no liability for any delay or failure in performance of its Services to the Client where this arises from matters outside its reasonable control.

Baker Tilly International

Baker Tilly is an independent member of Baker Tilly International Limited ("Baker Tilly International"), which is an English Company. Baker Tilly International provides no professional services to clients. Each member firm is a separate and independent legal entity, and each describes itself as such. Baker Tilly is not Baker Tilly International's agent and does not have the authority to bind Baker Tilly International or act on Baker Tilly International's behalf.

None of Baker Tilly International, Baker Tilly, nor any of the other member firms of Baker Tilly International has any liability for each other's acts or omissions. The name Baker Tilly and its associated logo are used under licence from Baker Tilly International Limited.

Severability

In the event that any term or provision of this Agreement shall be held to be invalid, void or unenforceable, then the remainder of this Agreement shall not be affected, impaired or invalidated, and each such term and provision of this Agreement shall be valid and enforceable to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Baker Tilly shall have the right to terminate this Agreement should any of the following arise subsequent to the signing of this agreement: material changes to the scope of the engagement; we become aware of actual or suspected litigation, fraud or regulatory issues involving the Company, the Board of Directors or other management of the Company; we have reason to question the integrity of management; we do not receive the timeous cooperation of management in performing audit procedures that we consider to be necessary in performing our audit; we are provided incomplete or inadequate accounting records; or there are significant delays in the provision of audit information to us.

Governing Law

These terms and conditions are made under and shall be governed by the Laws of the Cayman Islands.

Headings

Headings contained in this Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not affect the intended meanings of the clauses to which they relate.
